Middos Menchen Stars of the Week

- Gali S. (2nd) - Gali saw a mess on the floor and cleaned it up with a broom without being asked!
- Menachem C. (2nd) - Menachem saw that the door was closing on someone and he quickly stopped it and held the door for them. What zrizus!
- Shmuel H. (2nd) - Shmuel led Benching after lunch without being asked. So proud!
- Binyamin S. (K) - Binyamin picked up books from the library floor when his teacher asked for help. He acted with zrizus!

ded·i·ca·tion

/,dedə'kāSH(ə)n/

noun

-the quality of being dedicated or committed to a task or purpose.
"his dedication to his duties"

-self-sacrificing devotion and loyalty
"her dedication to the cause"

For some strange reason, both the Oxford and Merriam-Webster dictionaries don't have the best definition for dedication. They come close, as evidenced above, but if they want to hit the nail on the head, here's the way that they'd define the word "dedication":

-DHR teachers

"the DHR teacher is a paradigm of dedication"

It occurred to me that this week, we must give a shout-out to our fabulous team of educators! They teach from home while infected with COVID-19, they juggle their quarantining children on their laps while they teach because they can't leave the house, and they use their precious break/free time when their classes go to PE or Art to stay on Zoom to help those who are out sick and falling behind. Before the outbreak, they learned with their talmidim on weekends, and led extra learning sedarim at night.

I am so honored to call the teachers on this fabulous team my friends and colleagues. May Hashem continue to bless them with good health, joy, and success in their classrooms and in all of their endeavors!
